CABLE NEWS.

The Queen May Come Here.

Loss of a Steamer—No War Imminent in Europe—Austrian Army Officers Complimented by Emperor Joseph.

The Austrian Army Complimented.

LONDON, Sept. 22. The Austrian military manœuvres in Transylvania were concluded yesterday. The Emperor Francis Joseph complimented Arch Duke Albrecht, inspector general of the army, and all the commanders present on the splendid proofs which he said the manœuvres offered of the high state of perfection of the discipline and training of the army.

Steamer Lost.

The British steamer Romeo, Captain Williams, from New Orleans August 30th for Rouen, grounded at Villegemra and capsized. The vessel is submerged at high tide, and is dangerous to navigation. An engineer and fireman were drowned, and five of her crew and passengers are missing.

The Queen May Visit Us.

A report has been started here that the Queen may visit her Canadian Dominions. A very strong effort is being made to induce her to do so. It has been stated that Sir John A. Macdonald, the Canadian premier, unanimously supported by the members of his government and by public sentiment, proposes to come to London and present a petition to the Queen, asking her to visit her subjects in North America. Sir Charles Tupper has been interviewed with regard to the reports and says he knows nothing of Sir John's intention in the matter.

The Bulgarian Question.

The Porte has sent a note to Russia asking for closer relations with that power with a view to settling with the combined powers the Bulgarian question. It is reported at Simla that Ayoub Khan has been captured in Persia.

Stanley Heard from.

A letter has been received from Henry M. Stanley under date of June 23d. All the party were well.

Earthquake in Malaga.

Disastrous earthquake shocks are reported from Malaga. There was a great panic and destruction of property.

Peace Probable.

FRANKFORT, Sept. 22.—Yesterday in a great speech at Grasswardein, Herr Tisza, the prime minister of Hungary, stated that all the European powers desire peace, and he believed that the peaceful situation will not be disturbed so quickly as has been apprehended, still economy in army expenditure was impossible, considering the increased appropriations of other powers.

Waller Leaves England.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 22.—Consul-General Waller sailed for New York to-day on the Brittanic. He said before he sailed that his trip to America was purely a social visit and that it had no connection with the fishery question or any other public business.

Davitt Comes to the States.

Mr. Michael Davitt sailed to-day for New York on the steamer Brittannic. He says his visit to America is of a private nature and will be short.

Rumored Meeting.

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—It is rumored that the Czar will meet Emperor William at Dantzig early in October.

Sentenced.

VIENNA, Sept. 22. Scalwski, the post office clerk, who was arrested in New York and brought back here for trial, was to-day sentenced to eight years at hard labor.

THE COLONIAL CABLE.

Proposed that the Survey be Undertaken Without England's Aid—Foster, the Minister of Marine, Favorably Impressed—Bishop D'Herbomez En Route.

(Special to THE COLONIST.)

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 22.—The British government has intimated that it cannot undertake the cost of a special survey for the proposed cable between British Columbia and the Australian colonies unless a guarantee is given that the wire will be laid. Sanford Fleming proposes that the colonies themselves should undertake the survey. Hon. Mr. Foster is favorably impressed with the suggestion, and if the government concurs communication will be had with New Zealand and the Australian governments. Canada's contribution would be the steamer Alert, of Arctic fame.

Bishop D'Herbomez has left for British Columbia with priests who will labor among the Indians of the Pacific coast.

NORQUAY FAILS.

Work on the R. R. V. R. to be Stopped.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—A Winnipeg despatch this morning says: It looks as if the province had reached the end of its tether, and that the work on the R. R. V. R. is going to be stopped. Premier Norquay having failed to raise the money, the contractors, who have not been paid, will not go on with the work. Some rails have arrived, but as there is about $2000 freight due the Canadian Pacific Railway on them, the company will not release them until the amount is paid, and the government has not the wherewithal to pay it. Premier Norquay will doubtless get a pretty warm reception when he returns, as the people refuse to believe that he failed in an honest attempt to raise the money. They believe there was crooked work somewhere. The ultimate result will probably be the upsetting of the government. The Dominion government injunction cases come up for argument to-morrow. The local government finds that all the lots are in the possession of squatters, and it is thereby hoped the province will win the case.

Just received---Our first shipment of Ladies' and Children's Ulsters, Dolmans, Jackets, etc., also a large quantity of Silk Plushes in all shades.

LORD RUSSELL'S TRIP

Not in Any Way Official—A Chatty Interview With Him.

Lord Russell was called upon at the Driard last evening by a representative of THE COLONIST, who was most affably received by that military gentleman who commands the Imperial forces of Canada. A short chat followed by which it will be seen that the reports which have been circulated concerning the general's visit here are without foundation.

Rep.—This is your first visit here, I believe?

Lord R.—Yes, I have merely come over for a few days, on pleasure.

Rep.—Then the reports that your visit is official are unfounded?

Lord R.—Certainly so. I saw by one of your papers that I was here in the matter of the fortifications at Esquimalt. This is not so, as my trip is merely one of recreation. The report has no doubt been started by a paragraph in the Montreal Star that implied that such was the object of my visit. Of the intended action of the government in this matter I know but little, and if I did I could not divulge that knowledge. If a gentleman came to your office and asked your editor who the writer of a certain paragraph was would he not be told that everything which was sent in was confidential?

Rep.—Certainly.

Lord R.—Then if I knew, I could give you no information. I have even been told since I came here that there was to be a large body of men stationed at Esquimalt as well as guns, etc. I was glad of the information, but I can say nothing of it myself.

PERSONAL.

Edwards Roberts, the well known litterateur, is at the Driard.

Lord and Lady Russell and Capt. Russell left for the east this morning by the Yosemite.

F. C. Ambridge, travelling auditor of the C. P. R., came down by the Yosemite last evening.

Mrs. L. M. Caldwell, first assistant in the girls' department of the central school, is confined to her home by illness.

J. Musgrave, son of Edward Musgrave of Salt Spring Island, has gone east to enter the agricultural college at Guelph.

F. C. Innes and wife, W. J. Goepel, W. W. McCulloch, A. S. Farwell, and J. A. Webster came down from the mainland last night.

Capt. O'Brien, master of the bark Alden Besse is staying at the Driard. The object of his visit here is to secure passengers for Hong Kong.

Rev. Father Leterne, a young Belgian priest, who graduated at the celebrated university of Louvain, arrived yesterday by the Sound steamer and will be attached to this diocese.

It is understood that Joseph Chamberlain is being pressed to arrange for an extended Canadian trip to the Pacific coast during his visit to America in connection with the fisheries commission.

Rev. Father Bouchard, S. J., the noted lecturer, arrived in the city last night and will leave again to-morrow morning. He will lecture this evening at 7:30 o'clock in St. Andrew's pro-cathedral.

M. and Madame de L'Aubmiere have returned from a short sketching trip to Goldstream, where they have been at work on some commissions for Mr. Beeton, of London. They are staying at the Douglas House.

A. W. Bash of Port Townsend, and Wm. McNaught of Seattle, have gone to Osoyoos as agents for a large syndicate of capitalists, who are endeavoring to purchase an 18,000 acre tract of land and 3,000 head of cattle.

F. C. Burnand, editor of Punch, has been seriously ill, and was in actual danger, but his condition is now sensibly improved. It seems that he caught cold while standing with J. S. Forbes at his villa on the Lake of Geneva. Feeling unwell he hurried back to Ramsgate as fast as possible, and had no sooner arrived than a very sharp attack of inflammation of the lungs declared itself.

MARINE.

Ship Titania will probably go to sea to-morrow.

Steamer Sardonyx is expected to arrive from the north early next week.

Steamer Mexico will leave San Francisco at 9:30 a.m. to-day for this port.

Steamer Geo. W. Elder will leave for San Francisco at 1 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

Collier Wellington passed down for San Francisco early yesterday morning with 2500 tons of Wellington coal.

British bark Bienda, which cleared from Port Townsend July 1st with 465,065 feet of lumber for Melbourne, put into Sydney, N.S.W., on the 15th, partially dismasted during a heavy gale.

A despatch from London yesterday says that the British schooner Walter L. Rich, from Provincetown for Victoria, having been ashore for three months at Punta Arenas, Straits of Magellan, was repaired, and after taking provisions sailed on August 10th.

The following charters were reported in San Francisco on Tuesday: For coal from Nanaimo to San Francisco, ship C. F. Sargent; for merchandise to Santa Rosalia, Bolivian bark Don Carlos; for lumber from the Sound to Melbourne, British bark Gen. Picton. From the above it will be seen that the Bolivian bark Don Carlos is not likely to return to Chemainus this year.

Bark Alden Besse, Capt. O'Brien, has been in Tacoma harbor since May. A few days ago she commenced loading lumber for Hong Kong, and having completed her cargo expected to leave Port Townsend on the 25th. On the passage out Capt. O'Brien will call at Honolulu for passengers, and he expects to return to Victoria about May, 1888, with a cargo similar to the one he brought in the spring.

KILBRIDE ELECTED.

DUBLIN, Sept. 21. Kilbride, who accompanied O'Brien to Canada, was to-day elected without opposition, to represent South Kerry in the house of commons. Kilbride was the Marquis of Lansdowne's principal tenant, paying £3,800 per annum for a farm valued by the government appraisers at £2,100 and the emergency men who executed the eviction, broke into Kilbride's house through the doors and windows and threw the furniture out into the street.

A pretty collection of neatly bound Bibles, Prayer Books and Hymn Books, recently added to our stock. T. N. Hibben & Co. *

Hamm vs. Ross.

Hamm has sent a challenge to Wallace Ross to row a 10-mile race on the Kempter rowing tricycle, for the sum of $500 a side, in any available place, either Portland, Boston or New York.

New Transcontinental Route.

The scheme by which the Union Pacific is to run a through line from the Atlantic to the Pacific is as follows: The Union Pacific is about to build a line direct to Chicago from Omaha, and thus be in a position to compete with the Atchison with its new line. The Chicago & Great Western has solved for the Union Pacific the question of a Chicago terminal, and the syndicate which is seeking to control the B. & O. is in hearty sympathy with this Northern Pacific and Union Pacific alliance. If the B. & O. goes into their hands its terminal will be in Chicago at the Chicago & Great Western station, thus affording an opportunity for sending a train from the Pacific to the Atlantic over one system, each road acting as a feeder to the other.

The Scotch cutter Thistle was docked yesterday morning, and from what could be seen of her bottom there appeared to be a general resemblance to the Volunteer, except in the rounding of the sides. In the Thistle this does not extend so low or so far aft as in the large white sloop. Then, too, all talk of her model being so different from the standard cutter is all nonsense. She is a typical cutter.

Advices from Panama bring news of a peculiar death. It seems that Capt. Wm. Tuesday night's Pall Mall Gazette revealed in detail one of the latest society scandals. It boldly states in an accusation against Colonel Hughes Hallett, M. P., that he has ruined his stepdaughter, a child of the late Lord Justice Selwyn. After the death of his first wife, Lady Selwyn and Hughes Hallett were married. She is the daughter of Col. Schaumburg, of Philadelphia. Hughes Hallett is also accused of having designs on Miss Selwyn's fortune. The accused has been a prominent figure in high society, and is an exceedingly promising and capable member. His career has not been without romance, for he was once offered the crown of Greece. He was known as the thinnest man in the house of commons.

Colonel Hughes Hallett says that the statements of the Pall Mall Gazette, charging him with a liason with his stepdaughter, are grossly untrue. It is stated that Miss Selwyn, mentioned by the Gazette, was the daughter of Lady Selwyn; whereas, the late wife of Colonel Hughes Hallett was the second Lady Selwyn. The Gazette assails him under the supposition that he seduced his step-daughter and demands that he be dismissed from the army and vacate his seat in the commons.

ESQUIMALT THE TERMINUS.

The people of Esquimalt have reason to be proud of their pretty town which has just been selected as the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway's China steamers. The Port Augusta cleared from Yokohama on the 14th inst. for Esquimalt. The town should be en fete on the arrival of the first steamship to mark its sense of the victory which has been obtained over prejudice and misrepresentation. It is considered doubtful if the China boats will go beyond Esquimalt during the winter months. Arrangements have been made for transporting the oriental passengers and their baggage swiftly to Victoria immediately after the arrival of the steamers. It is by no means improbable that the erection of a first-class hotel will be proceeded with next spring at Esquimalt.

STRONG LANGUAGE.

The entente cordiale reported to be existing between Russia and France, which continues to be so effusively proclaimed and alluded to in a certain section of the Russian press, has met with some strong observations from Prince Mestchersky, editor of the Grashdanin (Citizen), a biweekly journal, published in St. Petersburg, and circulating principally among the upper classes. In a leading article on the subject the following powerful and insolent passages occur:—

"Away with a nation that does not believe in the Almighty, a nation incapable of defending itself, and which surrenders itself to an enemy in hundreds of thousands! A nation whose patriotism only exists in phrases cannot be the ally of the Russian nation."

Further on the Prince declares that—

"The Frenchmen of the present day are a depraved body, destined by fate to exhibit the spectacle of degenerated patriots. The present Frenchman is composed of nothing but words—everything is words; and in fact there are wanting in practice qualities, a superabundance of which is found in his words—manliness, bravery, patriotism, solidity and sincerity."

THE FREDERICTON METEOR.

If the accounts of the Fredericton aerolite are correct it is the most remarkable object of the kind of which we have any record. Aerolites are the commonest things in the world; every museum and geological collection contains some specimens, but no object weighing seventy tons has ever, so far as we know, fallen to the earth before. The largest aerolites on exhibition are those which are seen in the national museums at Stockholm and Copenhagen; they were found on the west coast of Greenland by a Swedish exploring expedition fifteen years ago; but the largest of the lot does not weigh over twenty tons. Few, if any, of the ancient meteoric stones weigh over a ton; the largest of those which are seen in collections weigh from one to two hundred pounds. This new visitor from the skies is unique, so far as size is concerned. According to the somewhat confused account of the two men who saw it fall, they became suddenly aware of a bright light which lit up the landscape for miles the hour being five minutes to eight o'clock p. m. This light they discovered to proceed from a bright ball of fire; moving eastwardly, revolving, hissing and roaring, and throwing off showers of sparks. It struck the earth in front of the men, but as it evolved heat enough to destroy a wood chopper's hut twenty feet away, and partially to fuse a pile of rocks at the same distance, it must be supposed that it was a considerable way from the observers. Like the aerolite which fell in California in August, 1873, it buried itself deep in the earth and continued hot for three days. Aerolites or meteors of large size have often been observed in the atmosphere, but their fall has rarely been recorded. The one of July, 1860 was carefully observed by a number of persons all the way from Michigan to Connecticut. Its height in the air was from forty-two to ninety miles, and its velocity ten or twelve miles per second. It is supposed to have fallen out in the Atlantic ocean, for it disappeared in that direction. The one of December, 1876, was first seen above the northwest corner of Indian territory. It passed through Kansas and through all the states between Kansas and New York, being observed throughout its journey. At times it threw out clusters of meteors, which traveled in company with it and gradually disappeared. It was finally lost to view in New York, and is supposed to have come to the earth in some uninhabited portion of that State. Its mean height above the earth was from forty to fifty miles, and its rate of speed may be inferred from the fact that about two minutes elapsed from its first appearance in Western Kansas to its disappearance in New York. In the course of a day or two we may receive intelligence of the course of the Fredericton meteor before it fell to the earth; it can hardly be connected with the Portland meteor, which was seen on Saturday. There are a number of different theories about the origin of meteors, among which the reader may take his choice. It may perhaps be enough to say here that they contain no elements which are not found on the earth, their chief constituents being metallic iron, nickel, silicon, oxygen and alluminium. Most of them are heterogeneous compounds, and by polishing one surface and treating it with acid a plate may be formed from which a picture may be taken. This is known as a Widmanstatten figure. How these various minerals and earths came to be fused together into one mass, and set rolling through the air above us, eventually to fall to the earth, is one of those scientific problems which may still divert the leisure of the student.

THE WHEAT DEAL.

A remarkable story was told a reporter of the San Francisco Chronicle by a well-known wheat broker, which may be true in its leading details. If so, it will solve many of the mysteries of the recent deal which turned out so miserably for Dresbach and Rosenfeld. The reasons the newspapers are giving, he says, for the smashup are covetousness, miscalculation, excessive crop, increased facilities of transportation, amateur financiering and the refusal of help by other banks. These are all factors in the tumble, but there is another that does not seem to have been properly appreciated. In 1881 a number of military officers were sent out to this country by the French republic to take part in the centenary of the battle of Yorktown. Among their number was Brigadier-General Ernoste Boulanger. After the celebration in the east was over he came out here. He was a pleasant, cheerful kind of chap, and made many friends of both sexes. Among the former was Raphael Weill, who acted as his fidus Achates and saw to his every comfort. So intimate, indeed, did they become that 'twas currently reported that should Boulanger ever come to the top of the heap the genial Raphael might almost expect to be made an archangel. Notwithstanding Boulanger's free and easy exterior, it is a matter of history that as early as 1881 his plans were rife and only awaited publicity. Thus it was that after his accession to that portfolio in the French cabinet, which for fifteen years has been deemed of equal importance with that of foreign affairs, his plans for the reorganization of the French army were immediately made known. Every detail was nicely adjusted and all things prepared for a still bolder stroke. Even then, in 1881, Boulanger was an aspirant for power, and he had an eye on the future. Consequently he looked to the value of his friends, and a second of these was another San Francisco gentlemen, none other than John W. Mackay. Now, perhaps, you will see which way the cat is going to jump. I can't state positively that Boulanger made Mackay's acquaintance right here, but I do know that later on, when Mackay went to Paris, the general and he were on very good terms. Things had gone very well with Boulanger. On his return to France from America he was intrusted with the office of director of infantry under the minister of war and in that position had done much toward the reorganization of the army. Then in 1884 he took command of a division in Africa and transformed the expedition of force into one of occupation at Tunis. Lastly, upon the formation of the De Freycinet cabinet, his great popularity became evident. Now, as to what passed between the millionaire and the military man, I cannot, of course, say with exact detail. But I have heard it more than whispered that the millionaire was let into the confidence of the military man, and that the plans and aspirations of the soldier were known, if not shared in, by the successful miner. Now then, let's put the case hypothetically, as the lawyers say. Here was a Frenchman, as ambitious as they make them, and with the chief point of ambition the settlement of the old feud between Germany and France. Being a Frenchman, too, he was in all probability —to put it mildly—a speculator. Here, too, was another man with millions at his command. A war, we will say, might be precipitated, a war whose end or extent no man could forsee. It would, however, be a great European war, and someone would have to feed the armies. Not only would the armies have to be fed, but they would have to be fed at any price. Now then, suppose the arrangements between the two went so far as to include a fixed scheme by the one man to bring about this war; all that the other would have to do would be to corner all the wheat and he would be master of the situation, and every grain would be golden. To come back now to the facts. The Goblet ministry came in and Boulanger was still minister of war. Mr. Mackay, or the Bank of Nevada, or Dresbach and Rosenfeld, or the wheat clique, or whatever you may like to style it, did begin buying up all the wheat he could lay hands on, until it looked as though he were actually attempting to corner the foodstuff of the world. Everything looked lovely. In France it had gone so far that about May last a mobilization of the troops was on the tapis, and Germany was on pins and needles as to how threatening that massing of the soldiers along her frontier might be. In San Francisco the wheat was being bought up right and left; the price was forced up to a figure that made conservative men shake their heads, but still the purchases went on. Then came the collapse. The French people themselves grew frightened, Boulanger was declared a dangerous man, the Rouvier cabinet was formed, and Boulanger was left out in the cold. The imminence of war was averted, and wheat, in perfect sympathy, mark you, began to go down. The first crash really came then, and though it was staved off a few weeks you have seen that the inevitable did take place. The spirit of war has by no means been laid. That for the first point, and the second is, that there is a great big bulk of the clique's wheat that is still afloat and unsold. Put these two together, reckon in the proper percentage of possibilities and you will see that wheat may be a good thing to hold after all.

The Latest Central and South American News.

We take the following from the Panama Star and Herald:

COLOMBIA.

A man who had been severely bitten by his enraged mistress recently died at the hospital at Bogota from the effects of the bites he had received.

Bogota papers contain paragraphs expressive of satisfaction at the approaching establishment of the parcel post system between Colombia and Great Britain.

A new industry has been discovered in Cundinamarca. Recently nineteen cattle were found wounded and dying on a cattle farm. A similar circumstance having occurred previously investigation was made into the cause of the wholesale slaughter. A man was arrested and tried, and on being convicted it proved that by law he was only liable to ten days' imprisonment. This opened the eyes of the judges and on further enquiry being made it turned out that he and a butcher were accomplices. He killed the cattle and became liable to punishment, while his friend, the butcher, was always on hand to buy the carcasses and make money out of the operation. This curious state of affairs has been brought to the notice of the government and the law will shortly be amended.

A law, unequaled in any country, we believe, is at present pending in the legislative council at Bogota. The following paragraph, copied from El Promotor, is explanatory: "The president recommended the legislative council to speedily examine the petition presented by Dr. Oscar A Nogueta relative to his discovery of a method to cure elephantiasis." For this reason the matter has been pushed through speedily, and the bill is now in third reading, which authorizes the government to contract with the said doctor for the cure of the sufferers by the system discovered and which is now practiced by him, and which is already producing satisfactory results.

The Colombian news is full and important. It shows that the legislative council is in session and that political questions are consequently for the present shelved in Bogota. Unfortunately, however, it records that floods, followed by locusts, have done much damage in some parts. There is, however, a cheering side to the picture, and that is that small-pox has ceased to threaten the interior from the Venezuelan frontier; that bright hopes are held that the coming crops will be good, and that the agitation respecting mines will enable gold and silver soon to rank among our exports as they were wont to do in former years.

Captain William Short Symes of the West India and Panama telegraph company's steamer Grappler died in St. Thomas recently. The captain was addicted to chewing bits of rope, and must have unconsciously swallowed some from time to time, as the post mortem examination disclosed a considerable quantity of hemp, which the stomach refused to assimilate. This was indeed taxing the digestive organs too much, and it is said to have been the unfortunate cause of the captain's death.

CHILE.

A Valparaiso special of August 30th says: A large fire broke out here this morning. It completely destroyed the building in which it occurred. Yesterday during a performance at the National Theatre, and at which a large number of children were present, the curtain of the stage was blown against a gas bracket and took fire. Great alarm was caused among the audience, but the fire was soon extinguished. No damage was done and the performance continued.

A new company will be formed to sell Chilian wines in foreign markets, and new ships will be built to carry the wines with a capital of $1,000,000.

In the provinces of Malleco and Cautin, in the South of Chile, over 2,000 head of cattle and 4,500 sheep died during the heavy rains this winter.

The Chilian ironclad Cochrane sails for England at the beginning of November. Her heavy armament will be landed and mounted in the new forts to be constructed in Valparaiso.

The Llotma Volcano, in Auracania, has recently been in eruption. The lava and falling rocks, and the fear that the melted snow would cause a land slide, compelled the picket stationed there to move off about two leagues.

The Bishop of Ancud is about to make a missionary excursion among the Indians of Terra del Fuego.

PERU.

The Industria of Iquique, on August 20th, published the following cable message from Valparaiso, Chile: The cholera has reached Angol. On the 27th there were eleven cases, of which three proved fatal. There are thirty-five cases in the lazarette at Concepcion and about fifty in private houses in that town, which has only 15,000 inhabitants. Concepcion is situated on the banks of the Bio Bio river, at thirteen kilometers from the spot where it runs into Talcahuano Bay. The town is many miles to the south of Santiago.

A Lima paper published the following: Dr. Francis Barthelet and Messrs. W. Mosoure, Charles Thompson and Henry Taylor are now here. They are mining engineers who have been sent out by a mining syndicate formed in the United States, and who have crossed the continent from Iquitos on the Amazon.

Manuel Santos Zapatel, an Ecuadorian, shot and instantly killed Manuel Marquez y Lana, the governor of Huacho, on July 31st. The assassin then shot himself, dying some days afterward. The men had long been bitter enemies.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember: No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

Worth Knowing!

It has long been the study of chemists to produce an article that, while it would beautify the complexion, would also have the merit of being harmless, but these two important qualities were never brought together until combined in Wisdom's Robertine, the newest and best preparation science has yet produced for beautifying the complexion. $1000 is offered for every grain of poisonous substance found in it. Police Court.

Edward Keenan, a vagrant, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment. This prisoner has been before the magistrate several times. He is a peculiar chap, and claims that he served fourteen years in the British army, being in India with ex-Superintendent O'Connor.

An Indian, charged with stealing $20, was remanded until to-morrow.

A Great Lecture.

The Rev. Father Bouchard, S. J., so very favorably known on this coast as an eloquent lecturer, will, by special request, lecture this evening at 7:30 o'clock, at St. Andrew's pro-cathedral. Admission free. At the close of the lecture a collection will be taken up for the benefit of the St. Joseph's Social and Literary Society. Subject of the lecture: "Exclusive Salvation."

Queer, but a Fact.

It is a curious fact, but two-thirds of the photographs one sees are taken left side face. Is it because that view of the phiz gives the best results, or is the reason one of more occult mystery, which is known only to the profession? Of course every one will immediately say, "Why, I've seen as many the other way," but just let them take any average collection of photos and they will see that the left side-face view holds its own by a large majority.

A Sealer's Troubles.

A Seattle paper says: Harry Algar has gone to Victoria to communicate with Alaska in regard to his schooner Allie I. Algar, recently seized for seal fishing in the Behring sea. Unless the matter can be arranged without, Mr. Algar will go north in the next steamer. The general impression is that he will be able to recover his schooner, but there seems to be grave doubts about his ability to recover his ten thousand dollars' worth of seal skins, which were aboard of the schooner when she was seized.

A New Industry.

The busy silk worms that were spinning away a short time ago in Baker's "Bon Marche" show windows, having completed their labors and shrouded themselves with the lustrous silk fibre, have now been divested of it, the result of their work being three fine skeins of silk, which is the first ever spun and wound in British Columbia. The product is beautifully fine and is quite a curiosity in its way, showing, as it does, the wonderful manufacturing qualities of the worms. Mr. Baker will be happy to show the silk to any one wishing to look at it.

Ladies wishing to see the new styles are invited to visit the "Arcade" to-day when they will receive every attention. The show will continue for two days. †

Scandalous If True.

The lamented death of Miss Martha McEwen, which occurred recently in Watertown, N. Y., has been much talked of since at Ottawa. The unfortunate girl turns out to be a daughter of Mr. McEwen, a wealthy farmer residing near North Gower village. The father of the deceased girl has entered an action against Mr. R. Andrews, of Burritt's Rapids, for $50,000 damages for alleged seduction. The trial will come off at the autumn assizes in Ottawa. Mr. Andrews is a relative of the deceased girl and is one of the wealthiest and best known man in that section of the country.

New Westminster's Representative.

Mr. D. Chisholm, M. P., has been interviewed at Ottawa. On being asked if there was any agitation in British Columbia over disallowance he said:

"No, not yet, but there may be. At present all the uproar over disallowance is confined to Manitaba. Our province is fairly prosperous this year."

"Some people are finding fault with you for appointing the Indian agent at Metlakahtla, are they not?"

"Yes. But the man is not appointed yet. I have merely recommended him. Mr. Fagan is a friend of mine. I consider him an excellent man for the position."

The Sound Steamers.

In conversation with a P.-I. reporter lately, an old steamboat man said: "A company doing the business of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company should have one or two spare boats on the Sound in case of an emergency, but they have not a single one. The North Pacific, Starr, Hayward and Idaho are all driven to death. The Starr is badly in need of repair, having run steadily for seven years without overhauling, and the North Pacific is also in need of a rest. If either of these boats should break down, and they are both liable to, the company has no steamer here to take her place. I understand the new men under Potter's mangement are going to change all this, and I would not be surprised if they would build several steamers suitable for the Sound trade similar to the North Pacific."

In Bad Repair.

Complaints are rife of the bad condition of the footpaths in the western section of the city. Some of them are rather dilapitated, the holes through the planking being very dangerous.

Copper Mine.

It is stated that arrangements have been made to resume operations on the Sooke copper mine to-day, and a 30-ton smelter will shortly be built. These mines, twenty years ago, were owned by an English company, but they have since fallen into the hands of Mr. F. G. Richards and others having considerable capital with which to develop them.

Quite a Smash.

A buggy, which was being driven up Blanchard avenue last evening, came to grief near Herald street, it being capsized, smashing the wheels and making a general wreck of the whole concern. The driver, when subsequently leading the horse to the stables, was thrown down by the restive animal, and somewhat cut about the face.

"All Set."

The Seattle P.-I. has it that Captain Green is now at his old post of duty, master of the Geo. E. Starr. Captain Anderson is on the Hayward and Captain G. H. Parker is laying off until October 1st, when he will resume his old position as mate of the Hayward. He is next in line of promotion and, unless all signs fail, will be in command of one of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company's steamers soon.

The Artesian Wells.

We learn, says the Columbian, from Mr. Rand that about $3,000 has already been subscribed for the proposed artesian well at this city. About $1,000 more has been promised, and Mr. Rand believes the remaining $1,000 will be forthcoming. We hope the scheme will be a success. It would be worth $5,000 to know definitely what we are standing on, and there are very strong grounds for believing that the well will discover something of great value.

From Alaska.

The bark Corea, Captain Cullie, has arrived at San Francisco fourteen days from Cook's Inlet, Alaska. Her cargo consisted of 16,000 cases of salmon, the catch of the season. Cutting & Co. state that the catch this season was not quite so good as anticipated. Last year the catch amounted to 29,000 cases, against 30,000 this, though facilities this season were double those of last year. As the Corea came direct from Cook's Inlet, she brought no Southern Alaska news.

Beecher Sued.

Messrs. Waterman and Katz of Port Townsned, says the Seattle P.-I., have sued Herbert F. Beecher, Special Treasury Agent, and ex-Collector of Customs, for the sum of $658.91. The plaintiffs allege that Beecher received merchandise to this amount in 1883, and has on divers occasions promised to liquidate the bill, which he has not complied with. The case will be ventilated in the District Court next month.

A Smart-Aleck.

The following correspondence is addressed to the City Front Gazette, San Francisco:

"We would like to know if that Smart-Aleck, the secretary of the treasury and his agent, Mr. Tingle, knows anything about the decision of the seizure of the whaling brig Pearl, of Boston.

In 1824, the brig Pearl was seized in the Behring's sea by a Russian war vessel for fishing in Russian waters; brought to Lavistock and condemned. But John Quincy Adams made a demand upon the Russian government to release the brig, and forward her to Boston, with proper indemnity to be settled by arbitration.

In 1825, the brig Pearl was returned to Boston and $40,000 was allowed as indemnity. This decision declared Behring's sea as open waters."

Macamoose.

A Seattle dispatch of the 20th states that an Indian was arrested last Sunday in Puyallup by Deputy Sheriff James Knox of Pierce county, as being connected with the murder of Capt. Moore and crew of the schooner Seabird, at Port Rupert, B. C., last spring. Sheriff Cochrane arrived at Puyallup Monday, on his return from Walla Walla, and while waiting for the tram made some inquiries regarding the prisoner. No definite information concerning the murderer was known at Puyallup, and the sheriff sent a dispatch to Chief Murphy of this city, asking for information. Chief Murphy, in return, sent a dispatch to Chief Bloomfield, of Victoria. While the sheriff yet lingered in Puyallup, a dispatch from British Columbia was received, asking if the name John T Tatoosh was written on the back of the Indian's right hand. On examination the name was found written in two places, and the information telegraphed. The Indian arrested acknowledged that all the other Indiant connected with the murder were under arrest but himself.

The Indian referred to in the above telegram was brought over yesterday on the Starr and will be brought up in the above court at its next sitting on the Seabird murder case.

"Died a Year Ago."

A funny and suggestive story affecting our erudite morning contemporary, who has lately retired from public gaze and now haunts a back street after dark, is going the rounds. It is said that Willie McD—g—l joined its staff a few weeks ago with the munificent salary of $10 per week as editor, reporter and general literary roustabout, called on a prominent business firm with whom he had a long acquaintance to boom the paper.

"Will you," asked Willie, "give me an 'ad.' for the paper I'm on?"

"Certainly," returned the business man, "I'll give you an advertisement to help you along."

"All right," cried William, sharpening his pencil and producing his note-book.

The b. m called off the particulars which the scribe faithfully set down in his note-book, and having profusely thanked his patron, was preparing to leave the office when the other called out,

"By the way, which paper are you connected with now?"

"The S——d," returned the unsuspecting pencil-shover.

"The S——d!" exclaimed the advertiser. "You don't mean to say that that paper is still alive. I thought it died a year ago."

It is related by the unhappy newspaper man that he hurriedly erased the "ad." from his note-book, resigned his position, packed his grip-sack and took passage by the first steamer for Tacoma.

Westward Ho!

The contract for building the Mesina Springs and Fort Covington railway has been taken by Rogers & Taylor, of Montreal. This will give the Grand Trunk another outlet to the Western States, connecting with the Rome, Waterloo and Ogdensburg railway.

Anthracite Coal.

Mr. Mudge, agent for the Anthracite Coal company near Banff, came down a few days since, with a view to securing a ship to take 3000 tons of the coal, now at Port Moody, to San Francisco. The price he offers is $2.75 per ton. Mr. Mudge went over the Sound, but at last accounts had not secured a vessel.

Coming West.

His Lordship Bishop Lafleche, of Three Rivers, and a number of clergymen from the diocese of Three Rivers and St. Hyacinthe, are en route to Manitoba and this coast. His lordship is accompanied by the Rev. Father Angier, provincial of the Oblat Fathers, besides Rev. Messrs. Bochet, Pothier, St. Aubin, Chevretils, Lacisorage, Duhamel, Dupuis, Casaubon, Rhault, T. Bolvin, L. L. Bolvin, Proulx, Bourget, Largis, Forget, Jeanette and others. Other excursionists will be taken up en route, and upon their arrival at Winnipeg they will be received by his grace Archbishop Tache and the clergymen of that archdiocese. The excursion is for the purpose of inspecting the land in Manitoba and the Northwest, and upon their return they will do what they can to encourage colonization in their respective parishes.

EDWARDS ROBERTS.

A Notable Journalist Interviewed Believes Victoria Will Become a Popular Resort for Tourists A New Route Through Yellowstone Park.

Edwards Roberts, of Boston, who is well-known as a brilliant journalist, was called upon at the Driard last evening by a representative of THE COLONIST. In a very happy vein Edwards Roberts discribed his trip through the Yellowstone Park and up to Victoria, speaking in glowing terms of the scenery along the route. This is his fourth trip to Victoria, and he expresses himself as surprised at the wonderful improvement noticeable in this and in the other cities of the Sound in the last three years. He has come to Victoria with a party of friends who wished to visit here, among whom are Mrs. Chas. Fernald, Miss Anderson, Miss Fitzgerald and Mr. Theo. S. Woolsey, son of J. S. Woolsey, professor of international law of Yale college.

Edwards Roberts has taken this trip to Victoria in a great measure to refresh his memory, as he intends to devote to this city a chapter of his forthcoming book, to be published by Roberts Bros., of Boston. The book will partly consist of a series of twenty letters by him in the N. Y. Evening Post descriptive of the Northwest, under the general heading of "A Western Summer." These and other special articles which will be published in Harper's will comprise the main part of the book. As before stated, Victoria will be prominently mentioned. Speaking of this, the journalist said that he was certain Victoria would become a most popular resort for American tourists.

In the course of the interview he said that his trip through the Yellowstone Park had been largely in the interests of the Union Pacific railroad, who were constructing a new road through that region, by which means through trains could traverse that wonderful section of the country. He stayed there two weeks and had passed a most pleasant time.

To-day he and his friends will take a drive to Esquimalt and around the suburbs. What has been already seen of the city by the party has been spoken of most highly by them.

The fact of the O. R. & N. Co. and Union Pacific now having the right to enter Portland and Tacoma, Edwards Roberts thought, would send a great amount of travel and trade through to the north west, and that in the near future Victoria would receive a great impetus. It and its surroundings were placed in a most happy position to receive benefit from any such streams of travel, and next summer would bring a large number of visitors.

The party leave for Santa Barbara to-morrow, and from thence east. They heartily enjoy this pleasant break in their long journey.

WHAT SOME PEOPLE SAY.

That it is wonderful how the ordinary correspondent can inform a newspaper how it should be managed. Victoria is full of such characters.

That a popular and genial young medico, who is noted for his admiration of the fair sex, should be careful on whom he bestows his killing glances. Some day he may strike a snag.

That Mrs. Gillerd, better known as Miss A. M. Butler, the English novelist, shot herself through the heart through grief for her husband's death, which occurred but a few hours before the suicide.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The Albion Iron Works Co., shipped to Vancouver this morning a large iron tank for a brewing establishment there.

The alleged murderer of Dring and Miller will be brought up on remand today at the Provincial court. Interesting evidence it is thought will be given.

The attention of the firewardens is directed to the gross neglect which "Junius" shows up so clearly this morning. If a man can whistle and shout through the doors of the Deluge engine house without being noticed it is very evident that the city may some day suffer.

"SO RUNS THE WORLD AWAY!"

A Curious Memento of the Long Since—An Amateur Performance at Victoria Nearly Twenty-Four Years Ago.

Yesterday while turning over the leaves of an old scrap-book which in our callow days we were wont to cram with "unconsidered trifles," we came across an object of interest in that it awakened memories of an event long since associated with the dim past. It is a programme of a performance given by amateurs at the Victoria Theatre on the 12th February, 1864, more than 23 years ago. The programme is printed on white satin with profusely gilt letters. It contains the names of several gentlemen who were then closely identified with mercantile and professional circles in this city. The performance was under the patronage of Sir James Douglas, K.C.B., then governor of the Colony of Vancouver Island; and it is a remarkable fact that of the persons whose names are mentioned in connection with the performance but one (Mr. T. N. Hibben) is now a resident of Victoria, and only one other (Mr. A. Bullock, of Nanaimo,) is in the province. Sir James Douglas, the patron, is dead these several years. H. Rushton is a resident of London, Eng. Godfrey Brown is finance minister of the Sandwich Islands. H. P. Seelie died in Japan. J. G. Vinter and B. P. Griffin ("Rare Ben.") repose at Ross Bay. W. A. Harries died in South Africa. G. Little died at Portland, Oregon. G. Wigham was in Bristol, Eng., at last accounts. W. S. S. Green resides in Liverpool, and is secretary of the Imperial Federation League. J. Carswell died in Scotland. Messrs. Sandrie and Palmer are both dead. Mr. Gentile is a photographer at Chicago. Miss Wilson went totally blind and died. Mrs. Leslie, Miss Small and Miss Howard were actresses. They are both dead. So is Miss Divine who sang in the interlude. Miss Belle Douglas is still on the stage. To summarize: Of 21 persons on the bill two are residents of the province, 14 are dead, and the remaining five are scattered far and wide over the world's surface. We here produce a copy of the

THAT "WATCH."

TO THE EDITOR:—Without wishing to interfere in other people's quarrels, I think I can be excused for calling attention to a somewhat serious discrepancy between what the chief engineer states is the law, and the way in which his subordinates carry the law out. In yesterday morning's issue of the Standard appeared a short item, evidently inspired by his lordship, "the gentleman in top boots and brass buttons." In this item it states that notices are posted in every engine house warning people from trespassing on the property, and notices containing certain penal clauses in case of infraction. So far so good; but who under the sun is to see that these notices are carried into effect? At the time that your reporter was "trespassing" there were (to take their own words for it) two of the men on the premises ostensibly on "watch" who heard and knew of the presence of a person breaking one of the rules which firemen are paid to see observed, and yet these servants of the public pay no attention to this flagrant breach of what the chief says is one of their rules and allow the "trespasser" to depart in peace—tin whistle, twenty-one ton gun and all. In plain words, the men on their own showing stand convicted of allowing the property of the fire department to lay at the mercy of any evil-disposed person—for, although your "reporter" is no doubt a harmless individual, still if he can go into an engine house and holler himself hoarse without being interfered with, it looks very much as though anybody else could have plenty of chance to do any amount of harm to the valuable machinery of the city which is in charge of the fire department. JUNIUS.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

TO THE EDITOR:—I should be glad if you will correct any unfavorable impression that might have been produced by one portion of Councillor Higgins' resolution at the last meeting of the city council, which conveyed the idea that the collector of the license fees from commercial travelers had been subjected to the indignity of being ordered out of the public room of some of the hotels when in the discharge of his duty, as nothing of the kind has ever occurred and must have arisen from misapprehension, as the collector, on the other hand, has always been treated with respect and courtesy, and more especially at the Driard.
